ARTIST STATEMENT

I have a great eye for the overlooked things and the beauty of simplicity. I was born and predominately raised in Los Angeles, CA. I was a flight attendant, and I got the chance to travel. I have had the chance to live in the Bay Area, Washington D.C. and Sydney, Australia, which has given me a unique experience and has shaped the way I approach photography. I now reside in Cleveland, Ohio, and I love to capture subjects and scenes that convey a story, landscapes in particular are my favorite. However, I am open to shooting anything. I hope you enjoy my art work.

I believe people will enjoy the rawness of the photographs. There is something very authentic about black and white photographs; viewers will have the chance to see my photos and because they are black and white and minimally retouched, they will be able to understand the feeling and tone of the photograph. The photographs are in several different locations, some in which I have lived and some in which I simply traveled to. The theme is centered around being grateful for where you are and really stopping to look at the moment your in because you'll never live that moment again.

BIOGRAPHY

Hello, my name is Destiny Moore. I'm from Los Angeles, CA. I've moved quite a bit and even was a flight attendant for two years. I now reside in Cleveland, Ohio and love capturing beautiful landscapes, and street photography scenes. My prior experience includes being a fashion photography intern for Ricochet Wearable Arts, as well as getting a chance to serve as 2nd shooter at a wedding, and recently published in NPR. I was recently included as an honorable mention for the minimalism art show for my piece titled "In A Daze" in Ten Moir Gallery.
